

SO CAL FLUIDS VIII

Saturday, April 12, 2014
UCLA

The eighth Southern California Flow Physics Symposium (So Cal Fluids VIII) aims to bring together researchers from universities throughout Southern California, working in all areas of fluid dynamics, for a one-day exchange of ideas in an informal and collaborative atmosphere.

In order to promote education and exposure, talks are invited from graduate students and postdocs. Faculty and undergraduate students are highly encouraged to attend. All universities in Southern California are welcome to participate.
